Subject: Reinders Proposal

We haven't attended any meetings regarding this issue. However we recently took time to review nearly all of the email correspondence on the Reinders proposal webpage. From this perspective it is of concern that, seemingly for the most part, opponents of the project are Elm Grove residents, while the proponents are either non-residents or are stakeholders having business interests in the Village. For the record, as much as we'd like for the Reinders' property to become improved, our view, like many others, has been that the plan's density is out of accord with the character of Elm Grove. Moreover, might occupancy become an issue, considering the extremely close proximity of these apartments to the railroad tracks?
